

Take Home Test – Associate Product Engineer, Travelopia

Exodus is a Travelopia Brand specializing in Adventure travel.

Their website is <https://www.exodus.co.uk/>

This is an example destination page on the website: <https://www.exodus.co.uk/destinations/europe-holidays/armenia-holidays>

This page has a problem. The conversion rate is not as high as it could be.

The Web Owner thinks that if the description content is shortened, the Users are more likely to see the Call To Action sections and thus more likely to book a Tour with us.

Your job is to produce javascript and css to update the description on the page as shown below.

Current

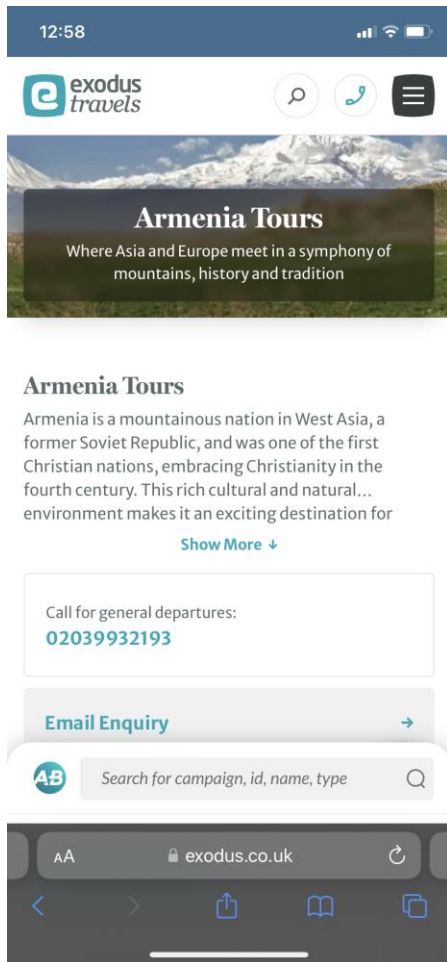

Armenia Tours

Armenia is a mountainous nation in West Asia, a former Soviet Republic, and was one of the first Christian nations, embracing Christianity in the fourth century. This rich cultural and natural environment makes it an exciting destination for a wide range of adventure, activity and walking holidays.

There are many pagan sites to visit as well as UNESCO World Heritage-listed churches, which are – almost without exception – built in stunning locations. Surrounded by forests, perched on the top of dramatic gorges or silhouetted before snow-capped mountains, they draw us to magnificent open spaces filled with a huge variety of trees and wild flowers. On Armenia tours we see wonderful mountains, lakes and waterfalls in the

To Be

You may disregard any differences other than in the “Armenia Tours” description section.

Submission

Your submission should include the JavaScript and/or the CSS.

Bonus points if you are able to estimate the impact of your code on the page performance and Core Web Vitals.